Mobile Doorman Announces TransitScreen Integration As Part Of Its Custom-Branded Apartment App

Partnership with real-time transportation tech company to debut in Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 17, 2018 -- Mobile Doorman, the industry-leading creator of custom-branded apartment apps for building and condominium communities across the United States, today announced a partnership with the transportation tech company TransitScreen to integrate its real-time technology into the Mobile Doorman apartment app.

The pilot, launching in Chicago later this month, will give qualified residential communities access to the TransitScreen GO mobile platform within their apartment app, providing information on transportation choices nearby their apartment, including bus, train, ferry, bikeshare, carshare, rideshare, private shuttles, real-time drive times, and local information.

“One of our goals is to partner with like-minded companies to continue providing new solutions for residents,” said Bob Matteson, Founder of Mobile Doorman. “TransitScreen has built a great company and integrating their offering into our product will significantly improve the overall user experience.”

“TransitScreen GO aims to provide residents with a seamless mobile experience that improves their quality of life with local, real-time information while on-the-go,” said Ryan Croft, Cofounder at TransitScreen. “By partnering with Mobile Doorman, we’re creating an integration that puts the resident first, and provides an added luxury amenity to their living experience.”
